

2018 Minor TOC Game Summaries

Date: June 16, 2018

Mountain View Athletics 15, Los Altos Cardinals 14

Pitch Counts:

Chase Kobernack (Los Altos): 25

Theo Barboo-des-Places: 82

Macon Hyndman: 77 (revert to 72)

Brady Greene: 23

Jonny Lindhout: 34

Max Reiche: 35

Recap:

The top of the first started off with Los Altos drawing two walks and capitalizing on passed balls and wild pitches to push one run across. Macon Hyndman then found a groove and struck out the next three batters looking. The momentum would be short lived for Los Altos as Mountain View came out in the bottom half of the first swinging. Mountain View roughed up the Los Altos starting pitcher with six hits and four runs. After 2/3 inning, Theo Barboo-des-Place took the mound and he would finish the game.

In the second inning, Mountain View catcher, Evan Rhoads, threw Amar Chandra out attempting to steal second base after Amar led off with a single. That was the last time Los Altos attempted a straight steal. Los Altos' highlight in this inning was scoring two runs on a passed ball. For Mountain View, in the second, Cody Butler hit a single and would later score on a passed ball. After two, the score was 5-3 in favor of Mountain View.

The third inning saw Macon ring up two more Ks and hold Los Altos scoreless. In the bottom half, Mountain View added one run to make the score 6-3. Macon remained in to start the fourth for Mountain View, but gave up a leadoff walk. Afterwards, Max Reiche took the mound. His inherited runner eventually scored on an error while Max got two of the three outs by strikeout. In the bottom half of the inning, Mountain View scored twice, both times unearned, by capitalizing on Los Altos errors and passed balls. The fifth inning saw both teams score five runs to make the score 13-9.

Los Altos entered the top of the sixth needing four runs to extend the game. They scored five on four walks and two singles. The score was now 14-13, Los Altos.

The bottom half of the inning started with the Los Altos center fielder making a clutch catch. Evan Rhoads then reached on an error and then tied the game when Frankie Serrano brought him home with a double. Then Macon Hyndman took the first pitch, which was Theo Barboo-des-Places's 82nd pitch, into center with a low line drive. Frankie Serrano raced home and Mountain View was victorious, 15-14.

A key contributor for Mountain View was their catcher, Evan Rhoads. He caught all six innings. His blocking and throwing kept Los Altos conservative on the basepaths and in a game this close, that was very significant.
